Dear John:

Many thanks for your wonderful presentations at our leadership off-site meeting! The Los Angeles District appreciates your efforts on our behalf, particularly in traveling across the country on a very tight schedule to join us May 10 and 11, 2007.

We especially appreciate your including your after-dinner-presentation, comparing the "same but different" things the United States shares with England. You have great humor and insight, which you salt with thought provoking spice, adding such controversial topics, as gun control and universal health systems, to the hilarity in the difference of word meanings. We are still discussing all that!

At the same time, we are still laughing at our togetherness adventure the next morning with toilet paper that binds us, as we move on to being "brilliant", so "here we go"!! Continuing on, you totally captivated us with the story about the rat—we were all seeing those red eyes in the basement with you and were utterly stunned to discover the rat pulling your leg was really you pulling ours!

John, you have marvelous humor, impeccable timing, and sparkling delivery, not to mention great energy! You are the best story teller, captivating your audience, only to captivate us yet again when you turn the "twist"! Thank you so much for brightening our day and giving us some very worthy things to think about!

Many thanks, too, for The British Twist; I laughed from the very beginning on page 1 all the way to the end on page 102!!

All the best to you!

Warm regards,
